This is a Group exercise.

TASK(s) :

Each Group will produce a small "manifesto" for forming your very own hypothetical and somewhat realistic "Protest movement", which should somehow relate to the vision and goals of your Verein outlined in previous exercise. Discuss and agree upon (at least) the following points:

Goals

- Write down the three (3) primary goals of your movement. These goals must describe what you would like to accomplish to create a change in the current demographic of issues your Verein aims to tackle its objectives. Choose goals that resonate with all group members and create a tagline for your protest movement: e.g., "We want to have unlimited WiFi on U-Bahns and in Buses"..

Protest goals

Tagline

Demands

- Determine who your protest is targeted explicitly towards (protestee); e.g., legislator, institution administrator, private sector, society
- Write down at least three (3) specific demands that you would put towards your 'protestee'. Keep in mind that your protestee would have to be in a position actually to fulfill your demands.

Community Participation Principles:

- Another important part of your protest movement is a list of participation principles that all participants must follow, both within the groups and also during protest actions; e.g., nonviolence, non-aggression.

Forms of protest actions

- Write down a list of 2 example protest actions that your group will be willing to make your demands: e.g, 'Blocking the depot gates till there is unlimited WiFi in public transportation' -- Remember that this is a hypothetical protest action.
